MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Discussions with Staff Members of the Senate Judiciary Committee

1. Today, Mr. Marshall Goldberg and Ms. Irene R. Margolis, staff members of the Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights, Senate Judiciary Committee, visited the Agency in order to review the lists of material given by the Agency to the Department of Justice of 24 October 1972 and 21 December 1972, which are attached. After these two lists were reviewed, I explained in some detail my understanding of the circumstances surrounding the delivery of these two packages of Agency documents to DOJ. We discussed this matter for about 1 1/2 hours. I explained that on 11 October 1972 the Deputy General Counsel met with Messrs. Silbert, Glanzer and Campbell, at which time those individuals asked Mr. Warner a number of questions relating to Watergate. To my knowledge there was no written request from the Department regarding these questions. Mr. Warner made notes and returned to the Agency to have the questions answered. The questions were answered and the resulting answers together with appropriate supportive Agency documents were compiled in a package which was transmitted to the Attorney General via a letter from the DCI dated 24 October. The letter and the materials were delivered to the Attorney General by the DCI and the General Counsel on the 24th. It is my understanding that they first met with the Attorney General and discussed the matter. Later, during that meeting, Assistant Attorney General Petersen was asked to join the group. Messrs. Houston and Petersen later retired to the latter's office at which point they discussed the materials in further detail.

2. On 27 November the Executive Director-Comptroller Colby and Acting General Counsel Warner met with Messrs. Petersen and Silbert, at which time additional questions were posed to the Agency. On 29 November Mr. Silbert called Mr. Warner posing even further questions. The Agency then compiled answers to these questions and transmitted the answers via Mr. Warner's memorandum to Mr. Petersen, dated 21 December. Mr. Warner delivered that memorandum to Mr. Petersen on 22 December, at which time he met with Messrs. Petersen and Silbert. At that meeting Mr. Warner was asked whether the Agency had copies of the photographs the Agency developed for E. Howard Hunt. Mr. Warner replied he did not know but would check on this matter. Upon returning to the Agency, Mr. Warner learned that the Agency did have Xerox copies of these photographs and made arrangements to have the Xerox copies delivered to the Department. The Xerox copies of the ten photographs were delivered by Mr. Goldin of this Office to Mr. Petersen on 3 January 1973. I showed Mr. Goldberg and Ms. Margolis Mr. Goldin's note reflecting this. They questioned why only nine of the ten photographs appear in Book 9 of the Senate Select Committee Hearings. I showed them a copy of the tenth photograph (attached) and speculated that because of the extremely poor quality it probably would not reproduce in the printing process.

3. As a result of these discussions, Mr. Goldberg and Ms. Margolis requested the Agency to permit them to read the documents marked with an asterisk in the two attached lists. Further, they asked if the Agency could answer the following questions:

(a) When were copies of the alias documents furnished by the Agency to Hunt and Liddy first supplied to the Department?

(b) Does the Agency have any knowledge of the Department returning the materials that are described on the attached lists?

(c) Did Silbert make further requests regarding the photographs after they were supplied to the Department in January 1973?

(d) When were copies of the two Dunn memoranda (Pages 3861 and 3862 of Book 9 of the Senate Select Committee Hearings) first supplied to the Department?

(e) When, and to what extent was the Agency asked about our relationships with Messrs. Krogh and Young?

Mr. Goldberg and Ms. Margolis asked if we could supply them with this information by early next week.

4. Mr. Goldberg and Ms. Margolis requested a copy of the two lists. I explained that it was my understanding that they were free to read the lists today, but that I had no authority to release them. They did, however, make extensive notes from the lists.
